

Because of upcoming construction and renovations to the State Library, a traditional Legislative Day will not be held.

Even though you can't come to the State Capitol en masse, you can still help libraries by participating in the Kansas library advocacy effort. It provides an excellent opportunity to communicate with your elected officials, so that you can reconnect with them in the next year to follow up on important issues.

Your voice needs to be heard sharing information about these issues:

We want to contact every Kansas legislator this year—please help by hosting a legislative event @ your library.

It's easy and it's important. If we don't speak up for libraries, who will?
